This time of year, you're either going on vacation or feeling bad because you can't afford one.

Time and money are always the excuses we give ourselves why NOT to vacation. In fact, according to CNN published survey, Americans forfeited over $34 billion worth of vacation time last year!

But vacations reduce stress, increase happiness, help reconnect with loved ones and balance life. Everyone knows that memorable experiences contribute more to our happiness than money or 'stuff'.

"Happiness is having fun with your loved one", says Rami Lazarescu, CEO and founder of www.HappinessAssurance.com Irvine, CA. "Life is short, don't postpone happiness"

"We solved both the money and time issues" says Rami. "From $5 a day over 12 months, your entire family can vacation for 7 nights. And since you have one year to enjoy it, you can't give yourself more excuses to postpone your happiness!"

People, of course, can save monthly towards their happiness goal, without any third party. However, only few are disciplined enough to resist life's unexpected demands.

In fact, by recharging our batteries and changing our mindset, we will be more productive, effective and profitable. Happiness is our best investment!

"I've enjoyed Kauai, Greece, U.K, Florida and Canada" says client Clement Pepe, Laguna Hills, CA. "I've never seen better value than this!"

Having a vacation in your future will reduce your stress, increase happiness, help reconnect with loved ones, and change your mindset. "Families that vacation together stay together" says Rabbi Alter Tenenbaum, Irvine, CA. "It was the best week of my life!"
